

KEVIN FRANK

Kevin Frank is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Asten Johnson, a global leader in non wovens, plastic fiber recycling, and pulp-paper technologies and one of the oldest continuously operating businesses in North America. Since arriving as CEO office in 2015, Kevin has led the strategic transformation of Asten Johnson in to a global player in three diverse market segments with a doubling in revenues.

Formerly of Voith GMBH, where he served as President and CEO of Voith Hydro USA and Senior VP of Voith Paper FRS, Kevin brings with him a fresh perspective and proven ability to spearhead significant sales and market share growth.

A graduate of Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, Canada, Kevin has completed Advanced Management Studies at UNH & Maastricht University. In 2012 he was named a White House Champion of Change for his work advancing economically advantageous and environmentally friendly approaches to clean energy.